

NapSack Hammocks Safety Information

Generally, Hammock Camping is a safe and enjoyable activity, so long as reasonable precautions are taken and equipment is used within guidelines. As with all outdoor activities however, there are some risks, so NapSack Hammocks urge that you follow the safety guidelines below to limit any danger to yourself or others.

- Use the correct size and hammock type for the weight it will be holding - weight restrictions are given on our site for all hammocks sold
- NapSack Hammocks are designed to be used with the accessories sold on our site, we cannot guarantee the safety of items purchased elsewhere
- Please follow all usage instructions when setting up your hammock - 'how to' videos/instructions can be found within our site
- The tree, hammock stand or other base used to hang your hammock should be sturdy and strong enough to easily hold all of the weight you are hanging from it. Please also ensure there are no loose overhanging branches or other items which may fall onto the hammock
- Please consider the height you hang your hammock - do not hang it higher than you would want to fall! Similarly, you should be hanging clear of (not touching) the ground when in the hammock
- Do not leave children unattended around or within a hammock, or any of our products
- Not recommended for use by pets
- It is the consumer's responsibility to follow reasonable safety precautions and to consider their own limitations when engaging in outdoor activities
- The consumer is responsible for ensuring any third party using products purchased also follows all safety guidelines and recommendations

The consumer uses all NapSack Hammocks products and those products sold within the NapSack Hammocks' site at their own risk. NapSack Hammocks cannot accept liability for any damage, injury or death caused while using a NapSack Hammocks product, or any other product purchased from our site.
